Answer Key Notes — Section 4.2

Section 4.2 has no right/wrong answers — it is a configuration contract between user and tutor. Every answer maps to a concrete pipeline parameter: ingestion depth (Q31), chapter selection (Q32), scaffold weighting (Q33), schedule compression (Q34), structure mode (Q35), goal alignment (Q36–Q37), fear-zone scaffolding (Q38), drop-off defence (Q39), and use-case framing (Q40). The post-completion report measures the user against their own Q37 statement.

SECTION 4.3 — CHAPTER / SUB-CHAPTER FORM (5 QUESTIONS)

✓ Answer: Configures content-generation mix; user language/tone already inherited from Section 4.1.

✓ Scoring: Specific doubt extraction: named sub-topics get first-position treatment; tutor confirms understanding before advancing.

Q44. By the end of this lesson, what should you be able to explain, solve, or do? Also name any topic you want to SKIP. [4.3 · Outcome] (One-Liner)

✓ Scoring: Becomes the session's success criterion; the post-lesson report grades the user against their own stated outcome. Skip-list is honoured and logged.

Part 3 — True / False (Q45)

Q45. I have completed (or am confident about) the previous chapter / prerequisites for this one. [4.3 · Readiness] (True / False)

✓ Scoring: FALSE → tutor auto-inserts a 5-minute prerequisite refresher before the main lesson. No judgement, no penalty.

Answer Key Notes — Section 4.3

Q41–Q42 are configuration MCQs (no wrong answers) that set duration, depth and content mix. Q43 extracts the named doubt — the tutor must resolve it explicitly before the session ends. Q44 defines the success contract: the post-completion report (Section 7 of the Technical White Paper) scores the session against the user's own stated outcome, and the skip-list is respected without penalty. Q45 protects learning integrity by catching prerequisite gaps before they cause silent failure mid-chapter.

SECTION 4.4 — CONTENT GENERATION PROMPT · SLIDE RUNNING STRATEGY

Governs how every 45-minute lesson is generated by the AI Tutor · Strictly binding · Inputs come from Sections 4.1, 4.2, 4.3

The 10-Slide / 45-Minute Session Structure (Mandatory)

Slide	Content	Time
1	Overview of Topic	3:00
2	Contents covered in this session	2:30
3	Topic I — visual display of working: diagrams, font emphasis on keywords, words from different languages (e.g. Hinglish) to test grasping & remembering	7:00
4	Split-screen — LEFT: technical explanation · RIGHT: relatable generic reference example (movies, events, daily-life event) to remember	5:00
5	Q&A + discussion + opinion — mapped live to IQ, EQ, Critical Thinking & Research Skills	2:30
6	Topic II — visual display of working (same format as Slide 3)	7:00
7	Split-screen — technical content + relatable reference example (same format as Slide 4)	5:00
8	Q&A + discussion + opinion — IQ / EQ / CTQ / RRQ mapping	2:30
9	Broader picture — significance in day-to-day life, industry news examples, zooming out to the bigger viewing sense	5:00
10	Brainstorming + mind-map revision — technical content, generic example, important words from the transcript	5:30
—	TOTAL SESSION	45:00

Slides 1–8 run 34.5 minutes (two full Topic loops of 14.5 min each + intro). Slides 9–10 run 10.5 minutes of zoom-out + revision. Total: exactly 45:00. This timing is strictly binding — the Scheduler agent enforces it against live attention telemetry.

Binding Generation Rules

- Split-screen rule: Slides 4 & 7 MUST divide the 16:9 canvas vertically — LEFT half = technical content (definitions, formulas, steps); RIGHT half = a memorable generic reference (movie scene, cricket moment, festival, daily-life event, Hinglish punchline). Both halves reference the SAME concept.
- Simplification ratio: every lesson holds a strict 40% simplified/relatable content vs 60% core technical content. The tutor balances the two so the general audience can remember without diluting rigour.
- Penta-Intelligence integration: every Q&A; slide (5 & 8) tags each question and each learner response live against IQ, EQ, SQ, Critical Thinking and Research Reasoning — feeding the HIQ engine.
- Visual mandate: diagrams on every topic slide, keyword font emphasis (bold/gold), well-formatted text, 16:9 ratio locked. Visual memory hooks are mandatory, not optional.
- Hinglish & multilingual hooks: relatable Hinglish words/concepts are woven into slides 3, 4, 6, 7 to test grasping & remembering power of the learner.
- Transcript protocol: the tutor generates a full spoken transcript per session, declaring each slide number aloud on every switch and inserting deliberate pauses between slides (e.g. '...pause... Moving to Slide 4 — let's split the screen.').
- Form-driven personalisation: the transcript uses answers from Sections 4.1, 4.2 and 4.3 as attention grabbers — e.g. opening with the user's stated goal (Q1/Q21), their feared topic (Q38), their named doubt (Q43), their humour profile (Q9–Q11) and their mother-tongue hooks (Q6–Q7).
- Reiteration loop: the main context is emphasised, repeated, enhanced and re-explained with supporting examples from other domains at least once per topic loop.
- Explanation style: the tutor's tone, pace, language mix and roast intensity are pulled from the Section 4.1 questionnaire (Q3, Q4, Q10, Q11) — not hardcoded.
- Time-per-slide definition: each slide carries a hard time budget (see table); the tutor transcript announces remaining time at each Q&A; slide.

Sample Transcript Skeleton (Slide-Switch Protocol)

- "Namaste! Today we conquer [Topic from Q43 doubt] — remember, YOU said in onboarding that your goal is [Q21 answer]. Let us begin."
- "...pause... Moving to Slide 1 — the big picture. 3 minutes on the clock."
- "...pause... Slide 3 — Topic I. Watch the diagram. The GOLD words are the ones your brain must keep."
- "...pause... Slide 4 — screen splits! Left side: the real technical thing. Right side: think of [movie/cricket reference matched to O9 humour profile]. Same concept, two doors."
- "...pause... Slide 5 — 2.5 minutes. I ask, you answer. I am scoring your IQ, EQ, CTQ and RRQ live. No pressure. Okay — SOME pressure."

- "...pause... Slide 10 — mind map. Everything we covered, one picture. Say the keywords aloud with me."
